

SHORTEN YOUR JOB SEARCH BY 20-63%

The US Department of Labor studied the team support method we use and found that members who actively and regularly participate, shorten their search between 20% to 63%.

Once you join Kokopella's Shorten Your Search Team, you'll be on a team of six, which means you'll receive lots of individualized attention. Team members will have similar levels of expertise and responsibility levels, but each will have a unique functional responsibility, allowing for an open platform that encourages sharing, but without competition.

Kokopella's meetings combine training and coaching to help candidates conduct a more effective search and provide constructive emotional support to motivate and encourage what can be a long, difficult and impersonal process.

To ensure each candidate does the right thing in the right quantity, we focus on providing your search productivity.

Space is available on new and existing teams, so you'll be up to speed immediately and improving your search.

Meetings are 90-minutes long and conducted on the phone. And they're cost-effective, allowing candidates to shorten their search for just $50 per week.

The Wall Street Journal estimated that for each $10,000 of salary you want to earn, it requires 1 month of searching. That means, by shortening your search by just 20%, a candidate will bring in additional $192 per week for every $10,000. By shortening a six-month (5.2 weeks) search by 20%, a candidate earning $40,000 will bring in $4000 more quickly; a candidate earning $80,000 will earn $8000 more quickly; and a candidate earning $120,000 will make $12,000 more quickly.

We take your success seriously and do our best to support you and shorten your search. We cannot guarantee by how much you'll shorten your search, that's up to you, but we're confident know that we can help you, just as we have helped thousands of others.
